Above anything, we want your experience (and the viewer's experience) to be a smooth one. No stress for you means you'll enjoy yourself and get right down to business.

Your audience is interested in what you have to say, and so are we! We want you to feel comfortable, and to help with that, we need a little help from you.

If we asked you for a photo of yourself or other information, please send that along to us at live@ethreemedia.com at your earliest convenience. We'll remind you if you forget.

Likewise, if you would like a graphic and link to your live stream a few days in advance, please let us know via email that you'd like to cross-promote your live stream event, and we'll send that along ahead of time. Again, that address is live@ethreemedia.com.

step 2: setup audio on your device.

We need to be able to hear you as clearly as possible. Please wear headphones, turn off any other speakers, and find a quiet environment.

step 3: getting your best shot.

2. Face is too low in the frame

3. Lighting is weird

4. Camera angle is too low

Please find a stable location for your webcam. Laptops tend to be the easiest to use. We know we're throwing a lot of info at you. These samples are just ideal recommendations. We're so grateful that you're joining us!

You got this!

step 4: maintaining quality.

MINIMIZE

Do what you can to eliminate other local network traffic at your location when on the call. That's especially important for high resource uses like Netflix or large downloads. Doing so will help keep your connection to us strong.

MAXIMIZE

We should get together ahead of time for a quick test. Please make extra time ahead of your scheduled call to connect to us so we can check you in and do a quick test before you go live. If all else fails, please email us at live@ethreemedia.com, and we'll jump on it ASAP!
